Information

On June 13th, 2012, Denver Water (DW) entered into Agreement 14024A for the construction of Conduit No. 302 and for the relocation of Conduit No. 93. The relocation of Conduit No. 93 became necessary to allow the City and County of Denver to perform channel improvements along First Creek. To reduce costs, DW aided the City in the construction of this relocation by combining both the Conduit No. 302 installation and the Conduit No. 93 relocation into one construction package.

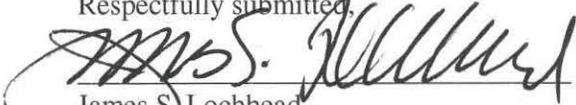

Since the City and County of Denver's construction project of the First Creek crossing of 56th Avenue between Pena Boulevard and Tower Road was an improvement project, Denver Water is entitled to full reimbursement of the Conduit No. 93 relocation costs. Contract No. 14933A is the Memorandum of Understanding whereby the City will reimburse Denver Water's relocation. The cost for Conduit No. 93's relocation was $447,684.60.

Recommendation

It is recommended that the Board approve Agreement 14933A reimbursement of $447,684.60 to Denver Water.
